DADS

*A father gives you life,
A Dad gives you love
A father feeds you,
A Dad nourishes you
You can talk to your father,
But you can pour out your heart to your
Dad,
A Dad is gentle, but not weak,
Strong, but not harsh
Sometimes he's your buddy,
And sometimes he's your boss.
And sometimes he's not even your father.
But, there's one thing he always is,
and that's your Dad.
Thanks alot Dad*

On August 18, 1950, Marvin was born in St. Louis, Missouri. He was the third child of Robert and Matilda James. Marvin was baptized at age fourteen in East St. Louis, Illinois at the St. Paul Baptist Church.

He accepted Jesus Christ as his saviour and was rebaptized at the Faith Temple Ministries Church of God in Christ, Memphis, Tennessee under the leadership of Pastor Andrew Jackson, Sr.

Marvin completed his high school education in the East St. Louis public school system. He went on to Fisk University in Nashville, Tennessee where he became a member of the Omega Phi Psi Fraternity, Inc., the Eta Psi Chapter. In 1972, he received a B.S. degree in Biology. Marvin continued his education at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tennessee earning a medical degree in 1977.

Marvin completed his residency at Homer G. Phillips and the St. Louis University Hospital.

Marvin soon realized his calling in life, to deliver children. With passion he pursued and dedicated his life's work to this endeavor. He worked at all the public health centers in Memphis, Tennessee, including these hospitals, St. Joseph's, Methodist South, Methodist Central and the Med. In 1994, Marvin embarked upon his private practice.

Marvin leaves fond memories to celebrate and to cherish to his wife of thirty years, Vickie A. James; also his mother, Matilda James, Memphis, Tennessee; a sister, Anna Marie (Torrance) McCaleb; two daughters, Jinaki Shani Kianga and Myesha Marie; a grandson, Ryan A. Warfield; nephews, Robert "Bobby" James, Albert "Kinney" Chambers, Corey Lavington, Ato and Kwame James, Sion and Mylan McCaleb; nieces, Jacqueline Brooks, (a grandniece, Breanna), Johari Abena, Naja James and Anya McCaleb.

He also leaves to cherish his memory, numerous cousins, colleagues, patients and dear friends.

Preceding Marvin was his father, Robert James, Jr.; his brother, Carlton F. James; and his sister, Wendolyn A. James-Chambers.

For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.
